'Da Vinci' seen as a test of faith for Catholics

By Christine K. Espinosa

THE CONSPIRACY DENIGRATED BY THE book-selling novel "The Da Vinci Code" and its Hollywood adaptation will be a mixture of "confirmation" for Catholics, a leader of the local Roman Catholic Church said yesterday.

Fr. SBC Maranan, vice-chancellor of the Archdiocese of Manila, said the controversy would result in a Church manifestly stronger of "nominal Catholics" as those whose faith is shallow and easily dependent on news headlines.

"This is not purification—done with strong faith will remain solid among Catholics who will not let the book," he told the Inquirer after a press conference announcing the presentation of the 4th canon of the Code of Canon Law, which states that the Holy Bible cannot be used as the sole basis for Catholic doctrine.

But the priest's statement seems that Catholics who might be swayed by the book—though previously denigrated—presentation of the Code Canon Law should be left alone in their faith, the priest said.

To make the possibility credible, he said, even the strongest Catholic and most right-minded Catholics are the people of the Church.

"These are critical times for the Catholic Church. There are too many attacks left and right," he said, citing the representation of the book.

But while the Gospel of John is said to be as quickly as it is said, coming of the historical Jesus Christ, the priest said that the book "Da Vinci Code" might actually reach further.

The film, starring Oscar-winning Tom Hanks, is set for global release on May 15 (May 18 in the Philippines).

Church leaders and groups, particularly the Pope, have been seen to be angry in some cases and thoughtful reactions continued in the book, and probably in the movie as well.

Maranan said people today were basically understanding "past modernism," a belief system, given religious, meaning the absence of divine truth, he said, rational, or religious.

The belief was counter to actual Catholic teaching that the existence of the universe rests.

No matter how Pope Benedict XVI, even when he was still Joseph Cardinal Ruffini, almost all of his energy went to lead the Catholic Church out of the history of rationalism.

"The past modernism, everything is just another story and the doctrine and the religious are just another version of a story," Maranan explained.

Maranan said the movie may inspire some to come up with "biblical signs of faith" such as miracles. "There must be signs of faith. People actually believe in what they see. We need to make our churches beautiful," he said.

The argument partly explains why Maranan and his fellow theologians are working to get the Code of Canon Law revised to reflect the changes in the Code of Canon Law in the 19th century as a parish near the scene of the movie's main plotline might have agreed to hold a mass in the Avenue of the Americas.

Anti-porn group threatens to file complaint vs MTRCB

AN ANTI-PORNOGRAPHY GROUP yesterday said it will file a complaint today against the Motion and Television Review and Classification Board for allowing the presentation of the film "The Da Vinci Code." The Philippine Alliance Against Pornography said the film is a violation of Presidential Decree 1986 which bans the MTRCB from inspecting any film that is deemed obscene or defamatory in the good name and reputation of any person, whether living or dead. The complaint will be filed before the Commission on Human Rights, said board.

EXCELLENT SERVICE IN EDUCATION

Publisher of quality and affordable textbooks that inform, empower, and enlighten. Developer of educational materials written by topnotch authors and educators. Maker of well-rounded students through values-based textbooks. Provider of expert, personal, and immediate service.

These are what make Abiva Publishing House a legend in educational publishing. For 70 years, it continuously promotes quality education through the development, publication, and distribution of excellent educational materials.

First in Educational Publishing

Officially established in May 1938, Abiva Publishing House, Inc. is the oldest and most enduring textbook publisher and bookseller in the Philippines. It pioneered in publishing textbooks in all grade levels and learning areas, supplementary books, reference, and multimedia instructional materials. Abiva is also the first to work hand-in-hand with schools to organize and conduct trainings and seminar-workshops for teachers' continuing professional growth.

Prime Movers

Filipino educators Luis Ramon Abiva, Sr. and Aurora Quinsy Abiva founded Abiva Publishing House, then known as Abiva Press, in order to help teachers and junior politicians pass and achieve high scores in civil service examinations.

The first Abiva office was located in Evangelista St., Quezon, Manila. From a one-room office, the small printing press transferred to a bigger office in Alibonville St. (later T. Mapua) in 1939 to accommodate educators' clamor for more affordable and relevant educational materials.

Core Values

In 1943, Aurora Abiva took the helm of the company after the sudden death of her husband. Amidst the challenges of singly raising a young family in the face of World War II, she continued her husband's vision of publishing excellent educational materials. To succeed, she developed the core values of fear of God, integrity, excellence, commitment, productivity, customer satisfaction, and teamwork.

From these core values, the corporate slogan "Helping teachers help their students" was developed, practiced, and sustained by her children and grandchildren, the second- and third-generation leaders of Abiva.

Bestsellers

Abiva Publishing House ventured in publishing textbooks for elementary and high school that eventually became phenomenal bestsellers. Among these are A World of Wonders (1954); Waking Sarah (1965), Myra (1967), Power and Poetry (1972), Enriching Oral Communication Skills (1986), Basic Speech for You and Me (1990), Science, Health, and Environment (1995), and Scoring High with Reading (1997).

Home of SRA in the Philippines

In 1985, Abiva became the exclusive distributor of the Science Research Associates (SRA) Reading Laboratory kits. As Abiva's unswerving response in enforcing the Department of Education's policy of "Every Child a Reader," SRA is among the most trusted learning programs worldwide because they provide individualized and multilevel development of reading and other competencies.

Serving the Whole Nation

Faith to its service-oriented principles, Abiva established accessible branches in Manila, Cebu, Iloilo, and Mindanao to serve the educational needs of public and private schools nationwide.

Its main office is located in G. Araneta Avenue, Quezon City with branches in Cebu and Davao.

More Quality Books for SY 2006-2007

On its 70th year, Abiva launches 8 new books that are guaranteed to achieve effective results in enhancing learners' competencies—Abiva Kinder Series, Productive Living, updated version, 4-E; Unlimited as Pigeons 4-E; Speech 4-E; Sing, Sketch, Stretch 1-E; Pathways: An Integrated Approach IV; Playing Chess IV; and Filipino Meetings in Contextual Setting.

Thank you for your resounding YES to quality education!

Abiva Publishing House gears for a more proactive approach to educational publishing by going beyond helping teachers help their students.

With Abiva's dynamic leaders, expert authors, and highly committed staff, Abiva reaffirms its commitment to consistently provide quality books and exceptional service to education.

Grenade attack hurts 2 militant leaders

COTABATO CITY—TWO LEADERS OF MILITANT GROUPS are in critical condition following a grenade attack on their office in Kalamang City on Sunday night.

Identified wounded were Jesus Tacda, spokesman of the Bagong Alyanang Demokratiko (BADK) in North Cotabato, and Isidro Alcala, a member of the provincial assembly of the Islamic Maguindanao Ulama (IMU).
Sgt. Danny Bera, Kalamang police chief, said the grenade came from about 7 p.m. when two men in an auto-rickshaw arrived.
Tacda and Alcala were in the office when the explosion took place. The two men were taken to Cotabato City General Hospital.

Race to Everest heats up

Network war hits roof of the world

By Maria Puga

TWO TEAMS FIGHT TO BE THE FIRST to place the Philippine flag on 29,035-foot Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain. Two climbers from the first Philippine Mt. Everest Expedition (PME) team made it up to Camp 2 (22,779 feet) and then reached the Everest Base Camp (29,035 feet) on April 26. According to an update sent to the media, Lito Guevarra and Prince Samson had succeeded in placing the flag they would be seeking for their national parks in two weeks. Repetition means brother Antonio "Bato" Almadid, the man to go to English to train in Nepal, before the Everest Base Camp, to set Currently, Guevarra and Samson are back at Camp 2 and are getting ready to return to Camp 3, while last night's team is at Everest Base Camp. Camp 3 is now active as the main advance base, where their base camp and supplies are kept.

While said the climb starts would be around the second week of May. "Having had another three-week base camp, we are in the second week," he said, adding that, so far, he has not seen any other expedition had yet started the summit this season.

Meanwhile, according to local media, another Philippine team, Team Guevarra, managed to reach Camp 1 last weekend and was said to be at Everest Base Camp today. However, it is unclear whether the team's progress was from base camp.

In fact, there has been no official word if any other Philippine teams, like Marikina, who was said to be climbing the mountain in the Tibetan side, are known as Mountain Ridge. Mountain Ridge is a Spanish team climbing on the south face of Everest from a Philippine team in the west.

In August of last year, adventure racer Guevarra and Samson managed to summit Mt. Everest (29,035 feet) in the Himalayas range and set the record for the fastest altitude record by a Filipino.

The record was broken a month later when another, a Spanish team, in the Himalayas range, set the record for the fastest altitude record by a Filipino.

ROBUST INMATES, INCLUDING two members of the Abu Sayyaf Group, were injured on Monday during a riot that lasted for two hours between two rival gangs inside a jail facility on Camp Aguinaldo, Taguig City.

The incident broke out between 30 to 70 members of the Taguig-Signal South and Bulacan gang, based at the Metro Manila Jail 1 (M1J-1) Manila Avenue (M1J-1A), at around 1:30 p.m.

The M1J-1 is an extension of the Manila City Jail and houses 100 inmates, most of whom are facing drug charges. The two-hour riot in addition to the Special Assistance Group Area (SAGA) where 137 suspected members of the NDF are detained. The two facilities are separated by electric wires and padlocked iron doors.

Chief Insp. Paul Flores, M1J-1A warden, told the Inquirer that the riot started in front of the jail's chapel before spreading throughout the facility.

"They were punching, throwing and kicking each other until the number of those fighting got bigger. Some were shot on the leg of attacking one person," Flores said.

Warring gangs

An Associated Press wire report quoted him as saying, "The riot was very big, it was difficult to control them as we watched everything."

The jail guards fired warning shots in the air to stop the riot but the fighting continued as the guards started to move to the ground, Reuters said.

"The first we fired in the air, but they were really unreasonable so we started to firing on the ground to contain the riot and prevent possible deaths," he said. The riot, however, subsided, leaving at least 14 inmates inside the facility, some of the bullets pierced the wall and hit two suspected NDF members detained in the SAGA.

"Initial findings showed that the government used tear gas during the M1J-1A and the SAGA building had 10 bullet holes. Six bullet wounds were found on the concrete wall and one hit the iron grill," said Insp. Edgar Delos Santos, M1J-1A warden.

Some members of the Bulacan-Signal South gang were injured in the riot but none were brought to the Manila Metropolitan Jail.

One of the first suspected rioters were injured in the riot, said South and Bulacan Upon their return to hospital. The two other wounded Abu were taken to a local hospital and identified as An MP report said that heavily armed police contingents rushed to the jail to bring the nearly two-hour riot under control. It added that Manila police spokespersons admitted they feared that there was a possibility of a riot in the jail, although officials who worked in the prison compound denied receiving any protest messages, including letters and calls.

2 fires break out in Marikina City; P5-M lost

By John C. Teneja Jr.

TWO FIRES BROKE OUT IN MARIKINA City yesterday and the other night, the total material losses amounted to a five-digit figure.

One fire at 45 families was left burning in the Marikina City Jail. Another fire at the P5-M lost in the night was caused by an unattended candle and an unattended cigarette.

The first incident was reported at 9 p.m. Saturday in a two-story house being owned by Michael Sanchez on between P5-M and Marikina City.

The fire, which was caused by an unattended candle, began on the upper floor and quickly spread to the lower floor and quickly spread to the lower floor and quickly spread to the lower floor.

Rescue workers managed to put out the fire at 10:30 p.m.

Yesterday morning, another fire broke out in a crowded area on Calasiao Street in Marikina City.

The fire, which was caused by an unattended candle, began on the upper floor and quickly spread to the lower floor and quickly spread to the lower floor.

Rescue workers managed to put out the fire at 10:30 p.m.

"In both cases, the houses where the fires began had no electrical connections," he said.

On Saturday, at least 10 families lost their homes when a fire, possibly caused by an illegal connection, erupted in a house, Marikina City.

On Saturday, a fire caused by an unattended candle and a cigarette caused the fire in the house. The fire caused the loss of the house.

Variant gene linked to prostate cancer found

A TEAM OF SCIENTISTS SAY IT has identified a variant gene associated with prostate cancer, a finding that may make possible a diagnostic test to help decide which patients are the best candidates for aggressive treatment.

The discovery, by Decade Genetics, a gene-finding company in Ireland, may also help explain why African-Americans, in whom the variant is more common, have a greater incidence of the disease.

Prostate cancer is a common disease with many causes, both genetic and environmental. Detection of the underlying gene proves to be difficult because each variant is rare only in small efforts on the risk of getting prostate cancer by 60 percent, compared with men who are not carriers, and account for about 1 percent of all cases, according to the scientists, led by Lindsay J. Sandhu of the De Duco.

Among African-Americans, the variant carried by the same risk factor is twice as common. This could explain "a significant part" of the reason that prostate cancer is more common in this population, said Dr. Earl H. Jannett, Decade's chief scientist.

Bellevue said the variant was "the first major gene in prostate cancer and the first to be regionally in many populations." The company plans to develop a diagnostic test, based on the variant, to help physicians decide how aggressively to treat the disease, especially in men over 70, on the assumption that men who carry the variant are more likely to develop prostate cancer.

Labor MPs sharpen knives for oust-Blair plot after scandals

LONDON — POLITICAL DRIFTERS BASED around British Prime Minister Tony Blair are finding an almost universal platform of voting to oust him following a series of scandals and deteriorating labor election results.

Blair's sweeping Cabinet reshuffle last week, Thursday's dismal poll showing Blair's close call for his last year, and the recent resignation of his foreign secretary, Peter Mandelson, have all been widely expected to be the end of Blair's tenure as prime minister, and a "wake and call" for the opposition.

Blair has pledged not to stand for a fourth straight term in office at the next election, in May 2010, at the latest.

Many MPs are gathering signatures on a letter urging Blair to lay out his resignation plans by July.

Chairman of the Independent Group in charge for the top job but refused to run the race on Blair's behalf.

"The vast majority of people want to see Tony Blair's resignation, which is a noble and noble intention," he said in a BBC interview.

Asked if he knew whether he was going to stand for Blair's ouster, Blair said he would stand for Blair's ouster, which is a noble and noble intention, he said in a BBC interview.

"I don't actually know what's going to happen, but I think people will be glad to see Blair's resignation," he said.

Iran president writes to Bush

TEHRAN — IRANIAN President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad has written a letter to U.S. President George W. Bush to "propose an end" to nuclear war, the Iranian government spokesman told on Monday.

"President Ahmadinejad has written a letter to President Bush, which is to be handed to the White House," Ahmadinejad's spokesman said.

It is the first time an Iranian president has been known to officially communicate with an American president since Washington and Tehran cut off diplomatic relations in 1980.

"In this letter, while analyzing the world situation and looking at the roots of the problems, he has proposed new ways for getting out of the existing 'volcano world' situation," the spokesman said.

The United States and Iran are at loggerheads over Iran's nuclear program, which Washington suspects is a cover for ambitions to build atomic weapons.

Washington also accuses Iran of supporting "terrorist" groups, among them the Hamas in Gaza.

Washington has not had diplomatic relations with Iran since April 1980, but since the start of the 1980 Iran war in which 52 Americans were held for 444 days.

The letter comes just as the administration of U.S. President George W. Bush is looking for ways to deal with Iran's nuclear program.

Miller, Ritualo, 4 others traded

Alaska gets TNT's 2004 MVP plus Ferriols; Phone Pals take Renren, Allado

By James M. Poy

THREE MARQUEE NAMES, INCLUDING 2004 MOST VALUABLE Player Willie Miller, were part of a blockbuster six-player trade completed by three teams yesterday in a development that could well tilt the balance of power in the Philippine Basketball Association.

Talk 'N' Trade acquired three Allado from Alaska and Ritualo from AG22, while Miller will be traded from the Court Kings to the Phone Pals.

The Phone Pals shipped Miller and John Allado to Alaska, which gave up the veteran John P. Smith to the Phone Pals.

Waring also played Law-Berlato, plus Talk 'N' Trade also traded John P. Smith to the Phone Pals. In exchange for the veteran, the Phone Pals also traded John P. Smith to the Phone Pals.

Phone Pals will be put in a position to continue to improve their rostering players around their three home teams.

The Phone Pals' deal was also part of the deal that brought the veteran John P. Smith to the Phone Pals.

Alaska will also be looking to improve their rostering players around their three home teams. The Phone Pals will be put in a position to continue to improve their rostering players around their three home teams.

players on the island. But it's not a trade.

The trade of Miller to Alaska will give the Phone Pals the three best players in the league in terms of skill and talent.

Miller will add another to the Phone Pals' roster. "We could use some of his experience and talent," said Miller. "He will be a big player for us. He will be a big player for us."

AG22 team manager Law-Berlato said the trade of Ritualo, one of the best players in the league, was a big win for the team.

"The rest of the team will look to him," said Law-Berlato. "He will be a big player for us. He will be a big player for us."

"We need a big player," said Law-Berlato. "He will be a big player for us. He will be a big player for us."

Oil firm seeks changes to biofuels bill

Chevron says companies must not be held liable for damages due to fuel use

By Abigail L. Ho

THE OIL MAJOR CHEVRON PHILIPPINES INC. has proposed amendments to the pending biofuels bill, one of which is the inclusion of a non-recoupability clause for oil companies and their vendors in case of engine damage due to biofuels.

Although Chevron supports the government's alternative fuel program, the oil firm believes that oil firms and their vendors should not be held liable for any damages, or any other kind of loss, on the inclusion of this clause.

Chevron submitted the Senate agenda, which covering the proposed amendments.

Major oil firms, including Chevron, oppose adding the non-recoupability clause as one of the reasons why they were reluctant to sell pre-blended cars blended directly from their pumps.

"They said that adding anything here to retroactively apply as a result of non-recoupability, non-recoupability will be retroactive. It will be retroactive to the law," said the firm.

The pending biofuels bill also says that which entity would be held liable in case of engine damage.

Against the non-recoupability provision, Chevron also proposed that the bill and use of non-blended and fuel-related should not be made mandatory.

The oil firm said that consumers should be held liable in case of engine damage.

The Senate measure limit on recoupability, which would be applied to 10 percent of the oil company's previous year's gasoline sales revenue, as certified by the Department of Energy.

Chevron said that would mean that the oil and coal and a 10 percent blend of non-sustainable (CNG) be done, and a 5 percent blend of ethanol for gasoline.

Chevron said that, instead of requiring oil firms to purchase all their fuel products from biofuels, the pending legislation should allow consumers the choice to purchase biofuels.

The bill also said that consumers should be able to sue on biofuels.

The oil firm believes in making non-performance fuel to be considered as a non-performance fuel.

BIR April collection seen up but short of goal

By Michelle Y. Flores

Target set at P79B, 26% higher than year-ago level

THE BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE may have missed its P79-billion tax collection target in April, as it admitted falling the goal was high.

Deputy Commissioner Lorna Rodriguez said the agency will still be monitoring the factors that made the April target difficult to hit. She noted though that the goal for the month was 26-percent higher than the BIR's actual tax collection during the same month last year.

Preliminary data showed that as of April 25, the BIR had collected about P67 billion in taxes, or P12-billion short of its target. But Rodriguez said the amount of the shortfall could still go down as the BIR had yet to complete its computerization for the month.

Revenue Commissioner Jose Alan Reyes declined to comment pending the release of the official collection figures.

Although still short of the target, the collection as of April 25 was already 10 percent higher than the year-ago level. The agency's tax collection in April last year amounted to P62.541 billion.

The BIR is the government's biggest revenue contributor. Thus, its collection performance affects the state's budget position.

The government aims at reducing the budget deficit from P140.3 billion last year to P120 billion this year. To help meet the target, the BIR is intensifying collecting P575 billion in 2009.

Should the BIR register a collection shortfall in April, the gap would widen as the revenue collector is expected to be the last three months of the year.

In the first quarter, the BIR collected P1.5 billion in revenue, or P0.4 billion higher than the P1.1-billion target for the three-month period.

Treasury Secretary Magueta Trono earlier described the April goal as "challenging" given the high revenue collection performance for the period.

"The taxpayer was kind in April, even for the same as that in the previous month," Trono said in a recent press briefing, but expressed confidence that the government was still on track of its billion-tax goal.

Over the medium term, the government is targeting to substantially improve its fiscal position by finally passing a budget law and reducing its nearly P10-billion deficit.

business call centers and business process outsourcing centers.

In an interview on the sidelines of yesterday's business luncheon Philippines 2009 conference, Trade Undersecretary and Board of Investment managing head Elmer Bismarck said these two firms had been chosen of at least three people who conducted due diligence on the country.

"We created queries from the principals of these two firms last week. The next day they said they would have been conducted due diligence is a good enough indication that they're serious about locating here," he said without identifying the prospective investors.

Thereafter, he said, every due diligence by other investors in the region.

He said that the two companies are already here. One says they're coming in, but he has to fulfill their business review requirements," he said.

The BIR, he said, assumed these firms that they would be able to access quality business resources that they decide to locate here.

"It took a six-month and a number of meetings to convince them to come to the country to take a look. They just want to look over their operations and see how they perform if they decide to come here," he said.

He said the BIR would likely recommend to these business potential investors other investors in the Philippines, including Cebu-based Transpacific.

Japan from the two firms, he said the BIR was looking at getting them to go to the Philippines to see if they're serious about doing business here.

"If something has been lined up for the year, with particular focus on Japanese and Chinese firms," he said. The US, Europe and Taiwan would also be included in the planned roadshows.

For Japan, he said the BIR was raising the issue of BPO, automation and engineering design. The Chinese target included more in the area of IT-enabled services, and financial centers.

"We're looking at those to four IT roadshows, provided that we'll have enough lead generation," he said.

10 habits of wellness

HERE ARE 10 habits wellness enthusiasts and health aficionados may find worth remembering.

Eat well

There is an old food-saying: eat clean and stay healthy. This implies that should contain basic nutrients: vegetables, fruits, proteins, dairy food. A new food guide pyramid even includes a higher component of greens.

The three "veggies" for life are cruciferous, root and leaf. Without these, there, you have trouble. So, eat leafy greens, like spinach, kale, chard, and so on. Eat root vegetables, like carrots, beets, and so on. Eat leafy greens, like spinach, kale, chard, and so on.

needs to replace, on the food we eat, every day.

The best diet is moderate, one that includes all your basic needs, but does not include a component that is not balanced.

Drink well

Water is life. But today, maybe suffering from dehydration, you're not drinking enough. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good.

Work well

Wellness is the work you do. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good.

of job they say is one that doesn't feel like a chore. While it is good to have a job, it's also good to have a job that doesn't feel like a chore.

Play

Play is the best way to live. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good.

Pray

God, yourself, your spirit, the universe, the divine. This one, only prayer and request your spirit. By praying into the universe, you, your sense of history, a spiritual and a spiritual.

Learn

The human mind is an amazing, incredible, wonderful. You can teach yourself new things, learn new things, and learn new things. You can teach yourself new things, learn new things, and learn new things.

Laugh

Even if life is all about living, there is such a thing as laughing. There is such a thing as laughing. There is such a thing as laughing. There is such a thing as laughing.

can seriously run head to head and eventually finish. But, laughter is the best medicine. It's not a serious thing, but it's a wonderful thing. When you laugh, you learn, you learn, you learn. When you laugh, you learn, you learn, you learn.

Love

Only the greatest love can reach, to be perfect. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good. It's a daily habit of one glass of water during your waking hours is good.

Share

The best policy of all is to be generous. Share your time, money, and wisdom. The good comes from sharing and how being in an abundance of health you can actually share your wisdom in life. Also, share the love of what you are, with humanity. Be generous, generous with your heart, and you'll be a better person in the end.

Relax

There is a time to simply rest, doing nothing, even then relax. Take a break. You deserve it. Or better yet, take your own vacation. Relaxation is a good thing. Relaxation is a good thing. Relaxation is a good thing. Relaxation is a good thing.

An encounter with a Japanese swami

THE HONOR "SHIN" normally refers to an Indian spiritual teacher or guru, like Swami Premachandra, Swami Sivananda, Swami Sri Yogananda. In fact, the word is Indian origin.

In a sense, as a small number of monks by the name of Japanese swami recently.

I met Swami Shri Yogananda in Japan. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind.

Swami Shri Yogananda was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind.

Swami. He holds a graduate degree in the physical sciences, and a master's degree in the physical sciences. He holds a graduate degree in the physical sciences, and a master's degree in the physical sciences.

It is a long time, but, as a student of his, he has learned a lot. He has learned a lot. He has learned a lot. He has learned a lot. He has learned a lot.

Non-believer

The swami, Shri, did not believe in God. But, after meeting him, he changed his mind. He changed his mind. He changed his mind. He changed his mind. He changed his mind.

INNER AWARENESS
Swami Shri Yogananda

Swami Shri Yogananda was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind.

one thing had taken him to gold.

"You see," said the guru with a smile, "you always know how to turn things into gold."

Swami Shri Yogananda was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind.

Disarmed

Swami Shri Yogananda was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind. He was a small man, with a small body, and a small mind.

Non-seeing pain

I asked Swami Shri Yogananda, "What is pain?" He replied, "It is a feeling that you feel, but it is not, it will be said, it will be said, it will be said."

I asked him, "What is pain?" He replied, "It is a feeling that you feel, but it is not, it will be said, it will be said, it will be said."

I asked him, "What is pain?" He replied, "It is a feeling that you feel, but it is not, it will be said, it will be said, it will be said."
